Daily workshops

The Svitac Youth Organization continued with daily interactive and online activities. Younger participants did creative and educational things adapted to their age, with the help of local and international volunteers. This month, they talked about the human life cycle, plants, ladybugs and bees, and watched informative and educational videos. The youngest participants enjoyed the creative part and modeling of fun objects (e.g. small ladybugs, bees, flowers, spring decorations, various plasticine items). The group continued with music workshops, rehearsing rhythms and songs. The participants continued learning the Cyrillic alphabet by practicing writing the letters Ъ, Е, Ж, З, И and Ј (Ђ, Е, Џ, З, І, Ј). They did warm-up exercises and yoga for children, and every Thursday they danced, played sports and practiced attention and concentration by reading and listening to stories (Prometheus and Fire, Alice in Wonderland, The Magic Beans).

In English, German and Turkish language workshops, they learned words related to family, urban/rural infrastructure, world food and greetings. The goal of these educational activities is for children to develop imagination and to express their creativity using various materials, as well as to develop motor skills, memory, a sense of tolerance and respect for others and adopt good behavior. All workshops are implemented with an educational visual method with images and video.

Ages 13+ participated in discussions/workshops on the following topics: peace, understanding, cultural diversity, inclusion, solidarity, speaking and lobbying, youth careers, financial management, methods of dealing with difficult situations and pop culture from the USA. In this way, we want to provide young people with a safe and neutral space, in which they can express their opinions.

In English and German workshops, they worked on practicing grammar and everyday communication, reading and translating short texts and phrases, school homework and interesting projects.

Guitar workshops

Participants continued to practice scales, arpeggios, chords, and cadences in multiple keys and bass lines in a variety of genres.

Samba workshops

In the past period, two new musical ideas have emerged: "Close Enough" and "J.S.Fach. We continued on composing melodic parts for two trombones to existing arrangements.

Music Workshops (Junior Group)

The band continued to work on a new composition of their own (Ready Freddy).

World Parents' Day

Since the 1980s, the international community has become increasingly aware of the importance of the family. The General Assembly adopted a series of resolutions proclaiming the International Year of the Family and the International Day of Families. Children should grow up in a family context and in an atmosphere of support, happiness, love and understanding for the full and harmonious development of their individuality.

The Svitac Youth Organization marked this day with the youngest participants by talking about the importance of a safe space with parents and family. Our team of local and international volunteers has prepared an educational and creative workshop with activities of drawing, coloring and creating a house with doors. When the door is opened, a happy family can be seen inside.

The workshop was held in the premises of the Youth Center of Brčko District.

World Environment Day

World Environment Day, also known as "Eco Day", is celebrated every year on June 5. Unfortunately, we are all aware of the side effects of climate change, air pollution and habitat loss for many species, including humans! By marking this day, the United Nations encourages awareness and action to protect the environment.

The Svitac Youth Organization marked this day with the youngest participants. They watched an educational video about ecology in English (adapted to their age) and learned some keywords such as plastic, paper, water, nature, air, pollution. Our volunteers also talked to them about recycling and waste disposal. There were also three boxes with the words paper, plastic and food waste. Their task was to separate the waste into three teams as quickly as possible. The group also created a symbolic poster about the environment.

World Day Against Child Labour

The United Nations celebrates the World Day Against Child Labour every year on June 12. We celebrated this day with a group of 15+. Jonathan, an international volunteer presented this topic through a discussion; What is Child Labor: "Work that deprives children of their childhood, their potential and dignity; it is harmful to both physical and mental development." We are all aware of what child labor leads to - economic exploitation and often deprives children of their right to education and health care - restricting their basic rights. One of the participants stated that acting (children in show business) is not considered child labor, so the discussion continued deeper. The group was looking for solutions and ideas on how child labor could be stopped: through education, creating safe spaces, strengthening the law, protests, educating parents and families.

World Refugee Day

June 20 is celebrated as World Refugee Day in an effort to draw attention to the precarious circumstances faced by those forced to flee their homes around the world. We marked this day with ages 8+ and 15+. Jonathan spoke to a group of young people about the history of World Refugee Day, the global agenda for 2024 and the tools that can be used on the issue. The group also discussed finding solutions to the refugee crisis, keeping an open mind and solidarity. Internally displaced persons were another topic of conversation in the group. We also talked about this topic with a group of children aged 8+. The style of the conversation was adapted to their age, and they talked about their experiences about what they had seen on TV or if they had seen refugees in their city. They also expressed their desire to make a colorful poster with the house and the children that surround it, with a symbolic message: "The house should be a safe place for all of us!"

In July, all activities of the Youth Organization Svitac are planned.

Mentoring for work integration to develop the full potential of an individual for a sustainable labour market

The Institute for Youth Development KULT held an event entitled "Mentoring for Work Integration: Developing the Full Potential of an Individual for a Sustainable Labor Market". The aim of the event was to present the approach of social mentoring - mentoring for work integration, through which it seeks to encourage the development of professional and social skills of marginalized and hard-to-employ young people and thus strengthen the economic sector.

Social mentoring as an innovative approach in the social protection system in Bosnia and Herzegovina offers numerous benefits, and one of them is the creation of a platform and direction for further strengthening institutional support and economic development of local communities. Marginalized and hard-to-employ young people are an important segment of our society and it is very important to work on equalizing their opportunities in the labor market.

During the events, panels and discussions, various topics were discussed, such as: cross-sectoral partnership approach to encourage employment of marginalized and hard-to-employ groups of young people, mentoring for development and employment, challenges and specific needs of BH. labour market and how social mentoring – mentoring for work integration shapes the labour market and responds to the needs of employers.

"Social mentoring is one of the hands that will hold our society together and make it cohesive. So many things change our society every day, different things happen, but inclusion and integration are the only choice - we have to include all these young people because they have potential. These potentials need to be discovered and connected with employers, and this is the key advantage of this program. In this whole process, their potentials are transformed into tangible results", said Naida Kokić, a representative of the "Source of Hope" Foundation and one of today's panelists.

The event was organized by the Institute for Youth Development KULT within the project "Social Mentoring of Youth in Bosnia and Herzegovina", as part of the regional project "Social Inclusion of Disadvantaged Groups in the Western Balkans (SoRi III)", implemented by Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH.

Building a strong political image and networking is the way to success in local elections

A group of young politicians, members of various parties in Bosnia and Herzegovina, has begun their training through which they will Learn, Think and Act for a better position of young people in our country.

Through 2024, the Institute is working with 18 young politicians to become active in advocating for Youth issues in the communities where they operate. The first training as part of the training also focused on preparing for the 2024 local elections in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Through training, the Institute wants to support young politicians to build a recognizable and positive image that will allow them to stand out in local elections. Through various workshops and lectures, participants focused on personal communication skills, their own confidence in dialogue, debating and argumentation. In the field of political image, participants will continue to explore branding and strategies for a good election campaign, and how to adequately communicate with the electorate.

UMiD for Youth Political Leaders (UMiDp) is the Institute's program for youth political leaders from 18 to 30 years of age, who come from different political parties and different local communities. Through 15 days of training, young politicians acquire knowledge and skills that help them improve their activities, especially in the field of youth rights. During the training, they have the opportunity to learn theoretically and practically about the political system of BiH and its activities, improve their knowledge for active advocacy for a better position of young people. Through training, they build their political image that is different, more innovative and more peer-friendly.

The Municipality of Ilidža is an example of a community that continuously takes care of its young people, and expresses its commitment to issues of importance to young people through continuous work on the development of strategic documents. Youth Club 'Dijamant' Jajce participated in the NCM project John Paul II

Youth Club "Dijamant" Jajce has successfully started cooperation with the NCM John Paul II, by participating in a seminar in Sarajevo, dedicated to the topic "Protection of Children from Violence in Sports". Three representatives of the club attended this seminar, where they had the opportunity to listen and learn from experts on the topic for the first time. They transferred the acquired knowledge to the members of the club, organizing a series of educational and sports events in order to raise awareness of the protection of children from violence in sports.

One of the most important events organized by the Youth Club "Dijamant" as part of this project was a sports volleyball tournament called "Sports Bridges for Youth Inclusion". Over 200 participants from different ethnic groups, regardless of nationality and religion, participated in this tournament. Participants came from cities in the area, including Ključ, Jajce, Prozor and Donji Vakuf, as well as members of the Association "Vodopad ljubavi" with developmental disabilities and ŽOK "Jajce-Nansen".

The tournament provided an opportunity for participants to show their competitive and team spirit in volleyball activities, but also to socialize, exchange information and experiences. Young people were able to experience the joy of a joint competition with the aim of achieving a common goal – the promotion of sports as a means of healthy upbringing and healthy lifestyles.

The aim of the volleyball tournament was to bring together young people from different backgrounds and encourage them to discover the richness of diversity among themselves through sports competitions, overcoming prejudices and getting to know each other.

Previous activities received the support of NCM John Paul II.Sarajevo

The team for the implementation of activities from the Youth Club "Dijamant" is proud of the success of this project and looks forward to future similar initiatives.

"TOGETHER FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE: EMPOWERING WOMEN AND YOUTH THROUGH DEMOCRATIC INITIATIVES"

Youth Club Dijamant Jajce is implementing a project called "TOGETHER FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE: EMPOWERING WOMEN AND YOUTH THROUGH DEMOCRATIC INITIATIVES". The aim of the project is to partially address the economic vulnerability of women and young people with lower financial status in the municipality of Jajce. Through a multifaceted approach that includes education, support for women's entrepreneurship and the promotion of democratic values, the project seeks to create positive social change.

The core of this initiative lies in the empowerment of women and young people through comprehensive activities, such as specialized entrepreneurial workshops for women and young people, education on democratic processes, and youth events and cultural engagement such as exhibitions and debates. By fostering an environment that supports active participation in the community, project activities aim to lay the foundations for a sustainable future.

The planned activities, including lectures and educational workshops led by experienced professionals, will provide practical knowledge and skills, train participants for success in entrepreneurship and deepen their understanding of more active participation in the democratization of women and youth through democratic principles. The project is poised to have a lasting impact, shaping a community that is economically resilient, politically engaged, and firmly committed to democratic values.

The planned project activities are crucial for raising the economic status of women and youth in the communities of Jajce, addressing the need for economic empowerment and strengthening democratization through political activism. The community faces socio-economic challenges that disproportionately affect these groups, hindering community development. The initiative aims to create opportunities for economic progress, active community participation and the promotion of democratic principles.

Women and young people in the surrounding communities have limited economic opportunities, and the project seeks to bridge this gap. Targeted entrepreneurial workshops provide practical skills and knowledge necessary for the establishment and management of successful companies, fostering a sense of action and self-efficacy.

The project recognizes the importance of harmonizing democratic values for sustainable development. Educating participants about democratic processes contributes to the creation of an informed and engaged citizenry, which is crucial for the overall well-being of the community.

Essentially, this project is necessary to catalyze positive social change in Jajce. It goes beyond immediate economic benefits to empower individuals, promote inclusiveness, and contribute to the long-term stability and progress of the community. The multilateral approach of the project is designed to create a holistic impact on different aspects of the lives of women and young people in Jajce.

In the previous period, the team for the implementation of the planned project activities realized several educational, educational and interactive lectures and workshops. Previous activities have received support from the Government of Australia - Embassy in Vienna.
